Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 60 and 63-65 are allowed.

The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

Regarding claim 60, the prior art of record, Okamoto et al. (US 5,224,162) teaches a tamper-resistant document carrier hardware having its own public-secret key pair, wherein said tamper-resistant document carrier hardware bearing electronic negotiable document and a signature calculated using said secret key; transferring the electronic document. Fischer (US 5,001,752) teaches wherein the secret key is not accessible by a user. Both Okamoto and Fischer do not teach splitting the original value of the electronic document in said buyer tamper-resistant document carrier hardware by creating two or more split versions of said electronic negotiable document each with a new sequence number inputting to said buyer tamper-resistant document carrier hardware, now acting as a seller tamper-resistant document carrier hardware, values defining values of each new said split version, wherein each new said split version comprises the signature of the original electronic negotiable document, and wherein each new said split version has a value such that the sum of the values of said two or more split versions adds up to said value of said original electronic negotiable document; digitally signing said split versions using said secret key of said buyer tamper-resistant document carrier hardware acting as a seller tamper-resistant document carrier hardware to generate a splitting signature; and transferring said two or more split versions separately to one or more further buyers without the involvement of a trusted third party; wherein each of said further buyers is able to transfer a said split version to one or more buyers in the chain. This uniquely distinct feature renders the claims allowable.
